model law will likely be very useful in further developing Israel's insolvency regime in light of increasing involvement of Israeli companies in global trade.

Finally, we note with appreciation the first few months in office of recent