

3. Welcomes the reform measures undertaken by the regional commissions, and encourages them to continue to undertake, under the aegis of their respective intergovernmental bodies, further measures to enhance their efficiency and effectiveness as presented in annex III to the

(c) The outcome of the meetings of the Commission on Science and Technology for Development should continue to be made available to the States Members of the United Nations, including through briefings to delegations in Geneva and New York by the Bureau and secretariat of the

for the following year, for consideration and approval at the next organizational session of the Council in January/February.

11. The General Assembly, the Secretary-General and the subsidiary bodies of the Economic and Social Council may also propose, through the Council, issues for consideration by the Committee.

12. The dissemination of information on the work of the between the Committee and the Commission and a coherence between their respective programmes of work. For its part, the Commission is requested to consider which aspects of its multi-year programme of work the Committee can usefully address.

20. The Committee should maintain close links with the United Nations Environment Programme, the United Nations Development Programme, the United Nations Industrial