

|

--	--

	Jacques van Zuydam is the Head (Chief Director) of the National Population Unit of the government of South Africa. His work entails integrating population concerns into the programmes of national government departments, provinces and local governments in South Africa, along with forging relationships with the international community and NGOs to support population and development in South Africa. His responsibilities also include population and development research and to monitor and evaluate the implementation of the country’s population policy. He regularly represents South Africa on international population affairs in the United Nations, African Union, the Partners in Population and Development (PPD), BRICS and the Southern African Development Community (SADC). Jacques has a Master of Arts (MA) degree in Sociology and is a Fellow of the international Leadership for Environment and Development (LEAD) Programme.
	John Wilmoth has been Director of the Population Division at the UN DESA since January 2013. He holds a PhD from the University of California at Berkeley. He was on the faculty of the University of California at Berkeley for more than 20 years, serving as Professor in the Department of Demography. He is the author or co-author of more than 50 scientific papers on various aspects of population dynamics.