

5. Nepal promulgated an inclusive and democratic Constitution last September. The Constitution brought the country's decade long conflict to a historic end and has laid the foundation for the overall development of the country and its people, ushering