

Honourable chair, esteemed delegates,

As a young person, and maybe even the youngest in the room, I have spent the last few days thinking about the future of our world.

