

The world's population is ageing. The proportion of people aged 65 and older is growing in virtually every country around the world. Nonetheless, the level and speed of change differ considerably across continents and countries – as is presented in the new paper put forth by the World Demographic & Ageing Forum Global Longevity Council, "Living Longer Around the World:

H.E. Ambassador Boštjan Malovrh, Permanent Representative of Slovenia to the United Nations

Keynote Remarks:

Hans Groth, Chair of the World Demographic & Ageing (WDA) Forum

Pol Vanderbroucke, Chair of the WDA Forum Global Longevity Council

Panel:

Pol Vanderbroucke, Chair of the WDA Forum Global Longevity Council

Yosuke Kita, Counselor, Permanent Mission of Japan to the United Nations

Bernardita Canals,