

Wolfgang Lutz is Interim Deputy Director General for Science at the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis (IIASA) and the Founding Director of the Wittgenstein Centre for Demography and Global Human Capital, a cooperation between the University of Vienna, IIASA, and the Austrian Academy of Sciences.

He has expertise in global population changes and the interactions between demographic changes, the economy, the environment, and the educational structure of populations. He has previously served as member of an Independent Group of Scientists appointed by the UN Secretary-General, which produced the Global Sustainable Development Report 2019: The Future is Now – Science for Achieving Sustainable Development