

There are those who know how to fill a dishwasher, and those who don't care*

There are two types of people in this world. Those who fill the dishwasher without any great planning, chuck in the dishwasher tablet, turn it on and get on with living their best lives. And those who get a twitch in their eye just watching the first type in action.

loaded it.