Provision of development assistance to Non-Self-Governing Territories

Reporting Period: March 2017 to March 2018

The most affected social sector was housing, and while Anguilla's housing infrastructure withstood

Hurricane Irma much better than other islands, an estimated 1,759 dwellings were affected, with approximately 3 per cent destroyed, and another 5 percent receiving significant structural damage. The most severely damaged promoting multisectoral collaboration during the disaster risk management process. Altogether, given their limited fiscal space, the impacted Territories have received from ECLAC a series of technical assistance activities mobilization and technical advice from the international community.

In this regard, Anguilla used this assessment as a guide to mobilize resources from the international community
