Our administration has consistently affirmed the sovereign right to conduct self-determining activities in Guam and has insisted that the U.S. Government's actions be consistent with the measure of self-governance. If the current arrangement is an educational arrangement, the only legitimate solution is a full transfer of authority to the people of Guam. Under any internationally recognized option for political status, Guam will be able to determine its own future. Instead, we have been told that the U.S. Government will continue to support the current arrangement and that the U.S. Government will continue to support the current arrangement and that the U.S. Government will continue to support the current arrangement.

The U.S. Government's actions are inconsistent with the principles of self-determination and the right to a fair and equitable arrangement.
