

Declaration on

Independent Telecommunications

At the 10th meeting of the High Level Group of Experts on the Internet Governance Forum, the Russian Federation, together with other member States, has adopted the following Declaration on Independent Telecommunications:

1. We, the member States, reaffirm our commitment to the principles of the Declaration on the Guiding Principles of Global Internet Governance Arrangements, adopted by the High Level Group of Experts on the Internet Governance Forum in 2009, and to the Declaration on the Guiding Principles of Global Internet Governance Arrangements, adopted by the High Level Group of Experts on the Internet Governance Forum in 2012.

2. We recognize that the Internet is a global network of networks, and that the Internet is a key element of the global information infrastructure. We also recognize that the Internet is a key element of the global information infrastructure, and that the Internet is a key element of the global information infrastructure.

3. We support the development of a multi-stakeholder model of Internet governance, which is based on the principles of openness, transparency, and accountability. We also support the development of a multi-stakeholder model of Internet governance, which is based on the principles of openness, transparency, and accountability.

4. We support the development of a multi-stakeholder model of Internet governance, which is based on the principles of openness, transparency, and accountability. We also support the development of a multi-stakeholder model of Internet governance, which is based on the principles of openness, transparency, and accountability.

5. We support the development of a multi-stakeholder model of Internet governance, which is based on the principles of openness, transparency, and accountability. We also support the development of a multi-stakeholder model of Internet governance, which is based on the principles of openness, transparency, and accountability.

seminar. We believe that a fundamental right to independence is a goal in this context.

Administrative powers are obliged to and cultural economic

of the principles.

viability