
We will develop national policies of inclusion for migrants ensuring access to all types and levels of education, access to health care and employment at all skill levels, which will support their livelihood opportunities. We will guarantee cultural orientation and language training with the aim of ensuring an adequate inclusion, as a positive asset to the host society.

(Based on Paragraphs 65 and 103 (e) SG Report for HLMMR, 70/5)!

We reaffirm our commitment to protect the human rights of migrant children, given their vulnerability, particularly unaccompanied migrant children, and to provide for their health,

We reaffirm that remittance flows constitute sources of private capital and are instrumental in improving the well-being of recipients, but cannot be equated to foreign direct investment, official development assistance, or other public sources of financing for development. We commit to further address and promote conditions for cheaper, faster and safer transfers of remittances in both source and recipient countries. In line with the Agenda for Sustainable Development and the Sustainable Development Goals, by 2030 we will work towards reducing the average transaction cost of migrant remittances to less than 5 per cent and we will ensure that no remittance corridor requires charges higher than 3 per cent.

3.13 We recognise the progress made on international migration and development issues within the United Nations system, including the High-level Dialogues on International Migration and Development. We will support enhanced global and regional dialogue and deepened collaboration on migration, particularly through exchange of best practice and mutual learning and the development of national or regional initiatives. We note in this regard the valuable contribution of the Global Forum on Migration and Development.

3.1- We will foster more opportunities for safe, orderly and regular migration, including employment creation, labour mobility at all skill levels, circular migration, family reunification and education-related opportunities. ~~We will be sensitive to the needs of fragile states and countries and areas which are in crisis.~~ We will pay particular attention to the protection of labor rights of migrants, regardless of their migratory status, issues such as the ethical recruitment of migrants, the reduction of recruitment and other migration-related costs, ~~the facilitation and productive use of remittance flows,~~ enhanced transfers of skills and knowledge and the creation of employment opportunities for young people.

Proposal for next year from Argentina, Brasil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Mexico, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay, Venezuela

3.16 We strongly encourage cooperation between, on the one hand, countries of origin or nationality and, on the other, countries of destination and other relevant countries in ensuring that migrants who do not meet the criteria for staying in the latter can return to their country of origin or nationality in a safe, orderly and dignified manner. Any type of return, whether voluntary or otherwise, must be consistent with international human rights standards. It must also respect the rules of international law and must in addition be in keeping with the best interests of children and with due process. We support enhanced reception and reintegration assistance for those who are returned.

3.1> We invite the President of the General Assembly to make arrangements for determination of the modalities, timeline and other practicalities relating to the negotiation process. We note in this respect that the Third High Level Dialogue on International Migration and Development is to be held at AB EF in New York "by no later than 2, 1 . and that a role could be envisaged for the ECD within the process. We expect that the International Organization for Migration would provide support for the negotiations. The Global Forum for Migration and Development and the Global Migration Group might also make contributions and in addition we encourage regional consultations in support of the negotiations.

3.1 We note that the Special Representative of the Secretary General on International Migration will be providing a report on the issues within his remit before the end of the year.

To conclude,
