

We failed to extend measures for seconding active duty military staff to the UN, a failure that will directly impact the success of peacekeeping missions.

We failed to take action to address the mental health needs and well being of the UN workforce.

And once again, we failed to provide