

into this profession. United Nations organizations will continue to promote and support the cause of teachers.

I take this opportunity to express my great appreciation and gratitude to all teachers for their untiring dedication to training children around the world.