Mr. Chairman,

My delegation took note of the Committee's meetings as well as the working inescapable linkage of the complex problems and conditions existing in the States that will limit the efforts that will be made by the States do not spill Nigeria therefore continues to advocate for the use of sanctions in a targeted manner as a last resort after the exhaustion of peaceful means.

3. In this context, we will continue to join other member States to support the establishment of a mechanism for evaluating such sanctions on third States, the difficulties arising from such humanitarian needs of the international law commission given due consideration of the legal consequences of sanctions affecting such States.

Mr. Chairman,

4. My delegation subscribes to the principle of accountability, but in so doing, the procedure and process are equally as important and could greatly facilitate the implementation of the sanctions in effectively maintaining international peace and security.

Mr. Chairman,

5. On the settlement of disputes through peaceful means, Nigeria re-emphasized the main objective and has pledged as contained in the UN Charter, Article 1, by peaceful means, and in the spirit of international law, and in respect of settlement of disputes.

situations which might lead to the breach of peace. In this context, Nigeria adheres to the jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice to which we reaffirm our commitment to peaceful settlement of disputes with our neighbors.

6. The legal framework of the U.N. Charter, through peaceful means, make the most effective use of preventive measures and the principles of the Charter, acknowledge Peaceful its thirtieth anniversary, for the principles for which it stands.

7. We welcome the progress of the Secretariat to clear the back Practice of United Nations organs and the Department of Peacekeeping Operations. We commend the Secretary-General's initiative to create a Centre for International Law and are valuable research tools for the international community with particular relevance to the diplomatic community. We therefore encourage UN Member States to contribute to the Centre's activities. The Centre is established to facilitate the work of the
