

For Australia, the final report of the Working Group highlights two particular and important considerations concerning the application of the obligation in the future. The first consideration is the gap between the objectives of the obligation and its implementation. The second is the need to

