Chair,

I have the honor to thank you for

at accession of UN officials and experts

1978-1979

1978-1979

The Nordic countries would again like to suggest the development of a general policy on minimal requirements for states whose nationals serve as UN officials and experts on mission. The policy could be developed drawing inspiration from the aforementioned Compact. An essential requirement should be that all countries have relevant jurisdiction in place in order to be able to investigate and prosecute potential crimes committed by their

In previous resolutions, the wording has precluded the inclusion in the report of information concerning which Members States have – and even more importantly, which Member States have not – provided any feedback to the Secretary-General on the follow-up of cases.
