Mr. Chairman,

I am pleased to have the opportunity to discuss the progress of the Department's efforts to address the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic. The Department has been working closely with the private sector and state and local governments to ensure that the United States remains a leader in the global fight against this virus.

As we move forward, we will continue to focus on three key areas: ensuring the safety and health of our citizens, supporting the economic recovery, and strengthening our national security. We will also continue to work with our international partners to coordinate our response and share best practices. The Department is committed to transparency and accountability in all of our actions, and we will provide regular updates to the public on our progress.

In addition, we will be launching a series of initiatives to support small businesses and workers who have been disproportionately affected by the pandemic. These initiatives include providing access to capital, offering technical assistance, and creating new job opportunities. We will also be working to ensure that our healthcare system is better prepared for future public health emergencies. This includes investing in research and development, improving our surveillance capabilities, and strengthening our public health infrastructure.

Thank you for your attention.

I am confident that with the continued support of the American people and our partners, we will overcome these challenges and emerge stronger and more resilient than ever before.

Very truly yours,
