

74th Session of the United Nations General Assembly Report of the International Law Commission on the work of its seventy-first session (Agenda Item 79)

Cluster I: Statement on Chapters IV (Crimes against humanity) and V (Peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens)

in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Curpus welcomes deep conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that these draft conclusions should be wholly consistent with the Vienna Convention on the Law of		a clear statement on immunities, consistent with Article 27 of the Rome Statute on the irrelevance of official canacity. Eurthermore, while recognizing that a possible new article on reservations would be in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Compass welcomes dreft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Compass welcomes dreft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that		in the nature of a "final clause" which should be left to States to draft. Cyprus expresses the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that	_	1 ·
in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention. Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that		in following Article 120 of the Rome Statute, no reservations may be made to the possible convention.
like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that	=
like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that		, like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that
like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that	=
like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens). Consistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes draft conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that		Turning to the topic of peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens), Cyprus would conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that		like to thank the Special Rapporteur, Dire Tladi and the Commission for the conclusion of the first
conclusions 10 to 13, which seek to consolidate and affirm the legal effects and consequences of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that		reading of the draft conclusions on peremptory norms of general international law (jus cogens).
conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cvprus holds the view that		nisistent with the views expressed by my delegation during previous sessions. Cyprus welcomes droft
conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cvprus holds the view that	_
conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cvprus holds the view that
conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cvprus holds the view that conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cvprus holds the view that conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cvprus holds the view that conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cvprus holds the view that these draft conclusions should be wholly consistent with the Vienna Convention on the Law of The violation of the dansation violation of the law of conflict of treaties with peremptory norms of general international law. Cyprus holds the view that