& e perpetrators and victims are not omogeneous, w ic ma)es an assessment o! t e ris) o! atrocity crimes in *out *udan very comple." Out t e patterns are t ere" & roug out t e wee), conversations wit all actors ave con!irmed t at w at began as a political con!lict as trans!ormed into w at could become an outrig t et nic war" 1 it t e stalling o! t e implementation o! t e 2eace 3 greement, t e current umanitarian crisis, a stagnating economy and t e proli!eration o! arms, all o! t e ingredients e.ist !or a dangerous escalation o! violence"

In spea) ing to people ere, I eard o! tremendous mistrust between t e civilian and military populations" Many people re!erred to an undisciplined army t at was !ormed out o! w at ad once been two opposing !orces, and as now splintered into multiple armed groups, gangs and bandits w ic cannot be controlled by t e central government" 2eople no longer seem to see t e military as t eir protector, but rat er an entity to be !eared $ or to be -oined as one o! t e !ew potential employers" 'ne elder I met summed up t e current et nic polari+ation4 e said t at e could see !ear in t e eyes o! some, and ent usiasm in t e eyes o! ot ers"

I was last in *out *udan in 2015, and serious commitments made at t at time to end violence ave been un!ul!illed" I am e.tremely saddened and disturbed to see *out *udan in its current state and I !ear !or its people" 6ven as t e con!lict becomes ever# more comple., t e e!!ects o! t e 7 ecember 2018 outbrea) o! violence linger, and uman rig ts violations committed at t at time ave not been accounted !or" 'n t e contrary, t ere is renewed violence on a daily basis, and any ope o! reconciliation is elusive" Justice and accountability were common t emes in my discussions during my visit, but t ere seems to be little ope o! eit er at t e moment"

I must emp asi+e t at genocide is a process" It does not appen overnig t 3nd because it is a process and one t at ta)es time to prepare, it can be prevented 3ction can and

I eard reports o! violence t at included targeted ) illings, assault, maiming, mutilation, rape, and t e barbarous use o! mac etes to ac) !amilies to deat " Oodies ave been !ound in t e river"

& ere is widespread !ear among t e population" 'ne person reported desperately to me, :&onig t I don;t )now w at will appen to me"< 3 not er elder e. pressed terror t at is community would be :!inis ed"<

6ven on t e day I visited, I saw !amilies pac) ing up t e !ew belongings t ey ave le!t and waiting on t e side o! t e road !or transport $ eit er to Juba or to neig bouring (ganda !or re!uge" & e gravity o! t e situation in , ei merits immediate intervention $ a !ull scale !act#!inding investigation and en anced umanitarian support" & e population as been !orced into town wit out access to !ood and t ey and t e re!ugee population w ic , ei osts are su!!ering"

, ei is but one urgent e.ample among many" & e signs are all t ere !or t e spread o! t is et nic atred and targeting o! civilians t at could evolve into genocide, i! somet ing is not done now to stop it" I urge t e people o! *out *udan to ta)e action"

& e *tate as t e primary responsibility to protect its populations" & at means all *out *udanese, irrespective o! t eir et nic, national or political a!!iliation" 't er *tates, regional organisations and t e international community can assist its protection e!!orts, owever" I plan to do my part by in!orming t e international community o! my assessment and calling !or action" I will spea) wit members o! t e 3!rican (nion and t e *ecurity =ouncil, as well as I / 3 7"

3s I leave Juba, I will repeat w at I said two years ago4 *out *udanese, your leaders, t e regional and t e international community, I beseec you to ta)e immediate measures to end t e violence and up old our collective responsibility to protect t e populations o! *out *udan !rom atrocity crimes" 6t nicity or political a!!iliation s ould not be used as a reason to incite violence or demonise and e.clude any community or section o! t e population" 1 e must all put strive !or peace in *out *udan"
