

Facilitating International Adjustment Through Timely Debt Resolution

Panel discussion

Friday, 12 October 2012, 11:00 a.m. 1:00 p.m
Tokyo International Forum, Room D1
5-1 Marunouchi 3-chome, Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo 100-0005

The panel will focus on the need to ensure timely, effective international adjustment consistent with sustained global growth and continued adherence to the system of open, dynamic international trade and payments constructed over the past 65 years. The panel's starting point is the recognition that, in a world of capital account liberalization, effective, timely external adjustment entails the possibility of sovereign debt restructuring. This issue is central to the role of the International Monetary Fund in assisting its members to strike a judicious balance between financing and adjustment.

The panel will explore the calculus of economic and political factors influencing debt default decisions, in order to assess the extent to which voluntary or statutory rules-based approaches can contribute to an orderly, timely framework for the restructuring of claims that reduces costs to debtors and private creditors alike. Key questions are whether steps can be taken to improve upon the prevailing ad hoc, voluntary approach that has dominated the restructuring of sovereign debt over the past decade, or whether a more formal system for dealing with situations of fundamentally unsustainable debts is needed.
