

According to resolution E/2000/35 that established the Forum, the participation of a wide range of forest-related stakeholders, including major groups, as identified in Agenda 21, is considered a key component of sustainable forest management (SFM) (through this resolution, accredited major group organizations with E+ and the Commission on Sustainable Development are encouraged to participate in Forum sessions'

In April 2001, the United Nations General Assembly adopted the 2001 Forest Principles, the global framework for action at all levels to sustainably manage all types of forests and trees outside forests, and to halt deforestation and forest degradation' (the 2001 Forest Principles states that effective implementation of sustainable forest management (SFM) depends on the contributions of all relevant stakeholders, including forest owners, indigenous peoples, local communities local authorities, the private sector including small, medium and large forest-based enterprises, non-governmental organizations, women, children, youth and scientific, academic and philanthropic organizations at all levels<sup>3</sup>

In addition, Forum endeavours to work with major groups and other relevant stakeholders to identify ways to enhance their contributions to the achievement of the global targets at all levels and their interactions with the Forum and the Collaborative Partnership on Forests (CPF) including through networks, advisor groups and other mechanisms, to raise awareness, foster information exchange and dissemination and facilitate coordinated inputs<sup>6</sup>

At UNFF2, member States further welcomed the initiatives undertaken by major groups in contributing to the development and implementation of the 2001 Forest Principles and the Forum<sup>7</sup> 63+8<sup>5</sup> (the Forum encouraged major groups and other relevant stakeholders to continue their involvement in the work of the Forum, including by elaborating proposals or work plans on how they can contribute to
