no restriction on workers remitting money back home. As to the figures, in 2002, 1.2 million foreign workers remitted US640 million. In 2005, 1.8 million remitted US$768 million. As to the human rights of migrants, despite isolated cases of abuse, foreign workers enjoy full protection of their human rights under Malaysian law.

Madam President,

Like other countries, Malaysia is concerned at the issue of trafficking in persons. While we have made some inroads in addressing this jears. we note that two maior difficulties arrive And in the were I...
