

STATEMENT BY THE HONORABLE MINISTER OF SOCIAL WELFARE, POVERTY ALLEVIATION AND POVERTY ALLEVIATION OF THE FIJIAN GOVERNMENT - DR. JIKO LUVENI

56TH SESSION OF THE COMMISSION ON THE STATUS OF WOMEN, NEW YORK, 25TH
FEBRUARY 2024 (MARCH 2024)

Madam Chair,
Excellencies,
Ladies and Gentlemen:

Allow me to begin by bringing you ~~warming~~ ~~welcoming~~ ~~from the Fijian Government and its people, that the~~ population of 832,000 people is centred in rural and peri-urban areas, and the theme of this year's CSW could not be more suitable in the Fijian context where the contribution of rural women to sustainable socio-economic national development is vital.

Madam Chairman, in the context of implementing the Beijing Platform for Action and meeting the MDGs, I would like to align Fiji's statement with that of the G77 and China, which resonates with the challenges, obstacles and needs of rural women in Fiji in this

Madam Chairman,

The Fijian Government prioritizes policies that promote gender equality in the decision-making process through the empowerment of women. In this regard, allow me to outline key initiatives in the national context:

1. We continue to support women taking up leadership positions in traditional contexts. Of the three high chieftainships in the most common chiefdoms in Fiji, there is already more than 22% women chieftains of traditional clans compared to 1.7% men. The positive is that women are not entitled with their traditional inheritance. With respect to the new women chieftaincy, community-based leadership and empowerment training is necessary to continue to bolster their leadership skills. In addition, women are members of hospital boards and village committees. Given the strong ties of kinship in our communities, such leadership plays a significant role in our development.
2. In line with the existing Domestic Violence Decree, and our national commitment to zero Tolerance of Violence against Women, 175 local communities have in 2011/12 developed a tolerance in their communities, and the aim is to increase this number by 12 communities annually. Such commitments by rural and urban communities is supported at the national level by legislative frameworks such as Fiji's Family Law Act and the ~~Government~~ ~~Constitution~~, ~~which~~ ~~provides for~~ ~~social services in the areas for~~ ~~education, health and~~ ~~which prioritise the needs of~~ women and children.

3. Rural women's access to Productive Resources, Markets and Financial Institutions has been a recent area of focus. The ability of rural women to engage in income-generating activities has been in the past been curtailed by no or limited access to finances. The Micro Finance Unit and the National Council for Small and Micro Enterprise Development has identified ~~women as a group with potential to create sustainable economic development~~ ~~especially in rural areas~~ ~~in the case of the Micro Finance Unit and NCSMED~~ ~~to the~~ women as a group with potential to create sustainable economic development especially in rural areas in the case of the Micro Finance Unit and NCSMED.
4. The Government's Roadmap for Democracy and Sustainable Socio-Economic Development has prioritized, for the period of 2019-2022, the improvement of Infrastructure and Service Delivery. With the ~~assistance of industrial development partners~~, sewing machines have been distributed to a myriad of women's communities ~~in~~ ~~activities~~ ~~bring them to rural areas and implemented~~ ~~is~~ ~~joined with~~ ~~new accounts as for sale~~ ~~valuable~~ ~~revenue~~ ~~access to markets~~.

With ~~access to markets~~ ~~from home~~, rural women who make up 87% of market vendors in Fiji's urban areas will need support services such as accommodation during their time in the cities and towns selling their produce. This is a project which government has been working with UN Women to deliver, and contributes towards ending poverty, given that a report by UN Women highlights that 70% of market vendors' incomes are used to support basic living needs. In this context, Madam Chair, I wish to acknowledge the work that has been done by UN Women in this regard, and look forward to working with UN Women in the areas of economic empowerment for women as a considerate and nurturing role in the future.

These are a few of the initiatives that have been taken by my country with the support of some internal partners to assist me in the delivery of small countries like my own to meet the targets that we have together created for ourselves. The United Nations, the Rio+20 Conference, the Paris Declaration and Platform for Action, the Millennium Development Goals, and the outcomes of the 25th Special Session of the General Assembly is dependant on the support and participation from the international community.

The obstacles and challenges in eradicating poverty and providing an empowering environment where women can operate in their chosen field without fear of stigmatization, discrimination or violence, are many. These challenges are not deterring us from action, and Fiji remains committed to both international and national goals in this respect.

I thank you Madam Chair.
