Mr. Chairman,

Another area of concern for Tanzania is the issue of maternal health. When a woman undertakes her biological role of becoming pregnant and undergoing childbirth, the society has an obligation to fulfill her basic human rights and that of her child. Yet for too many of the world's women – and especially those from poor women is a particular attack the contract the contract that are facility decided at a particular attack.

Surviving childbirth should not be a matter of chance. It is a matter of women's basic right to health and life. Women have a right to get through pregnancy and childbirth safely.

Access and proximity to health centres with qualified and experienced
