• Poverty alleviation:

Women have become the focus target in poverty alleviation programs. Government of Vietnam has set up the National program on poverty alleviation, the National Bank for the poor and integrated poverty alleviation objectives. Therefore the poor households have reduced from 23.3% to 17.7%.

The integration of the National plan of Action's objectives with other National programs, undertaken by various ministries and institutions is also

As described above, the "National Plan of Action for the Advancement of Women by the year 2000" being endorsed in 1997 is an indication of Government investment for gender equality. Part IV in this plan defines the specific budget for the implementation of the plan. The NCFAW performances receive funding from the Government. Committees for the Advancement of Women Ministries, Institutions, and in 68 Provinces of Vietnam. The Ministry of Labour has released a guideline on the allocation of some funds for this kind of activity which has been enforced. This is very essential for the implementation.

However, the success in achieving women's advancement in Vietnam could not be achieved without the technical and financial assistance from various International Organizations in Vietnam and abroad. We receive their support through projects which are aimed at the integration of gender, women. Now, the NCFAW is implementing the 3-year (1997-2000) project on "Capacity building for the implementation of the National Plan of Action for the Advancement of Women" at a value of more than 1.5 million American dollars funded by UNDP and the Netherlands Government.

(2) Education and training of women. Education

- improve education and vocational training for women;
- increase female enrollment at all levels.

* Eradicate illiteracy:

- The Ministry of Education and Training (MET) has developed their own Plan of action for the advancement of women, with concrete actions to be taken aiming at to complete the universalisation of primary education, increase female enrollment in schools and universities.

- Education and Training Services at the local levels in collaboration with the concerned branches continues to implement the Law on Universalisation of Primary Education. This program has been carried out in all areas throughout country, particularly in mountainous and remote areas. According to the report of the National Committee for Illiteracy improved remarkably the rate of primary level - 47.3% at the junior secondary and 46.3% at the senior secondary in public education system, gender equality female enrollment account for about 48% at organized class rooms and provide many women and children in rural areas and in school are still being aware of women in the first 6 months of 1997 literacy to 259 ethnic women of vocational training Centers and then created jobs for hundreds of thousands. Many women are interested in tailoring. Women's Union at various levels has got good outcomes.

3) Women and health:

- Priorities:
 - Improve health care for women
 - Enhance the reproductive health
 - Minimize occupational diseases

more than 50% of women is always paid attention by the annual budget for health care is from 15 to 20% in addition to the activity has been improving. More than 90% of the population lives at commune and ward levels.

Public health care Party and the State international assistance are provided from various branches and localities. Women's reproductive health from the concerned institutions. Women are provided regularly medical insurance, home visits when they are sick, clean working

According to the has grabbed attention medical check-up environment, health in collaboration with the concerned agencies conducted communication, training and signing the sub-contracts to implement effectively the maternal and child health care program. As a result, the number of pregnant women who receive tetanus injection has increased from 70% to 90%; the number of women who suffer gynecological disease has been decreased from 50% to 32%; the number of children who receive immunization from the enlarged program has been increased from 90% to 100%.

In population and family planning: A great change on the awareness of population issue with the further investment in human and physical resources, population and family planning is very active in providing a range of activities such as "Club for population and family planning", "Club for good child care", "Club for those who don't have four children", "Club for family planning". The crude birth rate has been decreased from 22.1‰ in 1997 to 21.5‰ in 1998.

4) Violence against women:

The Party and the State are always pay attention

Vietnamese women's equality and on Women (A.S.W.) and the focal point for women is A.S.W. The Women's Union is a member of ASEAN Confederation of Women's organization (ACWO), thus indicating Vietnamese women's good will in strengthening the friendship and peace.

6) Women and economy: Vietnamese women account for 50.1% of the labour force in the society. Under the Vietnamese Law, women and men above 15 years of age have the right to join the labour force. They have the right to create jobs for themselves or conduct jobs in the State, collective or private sectors. In fact, they have made significant contribution to the national economic development. The State's direction is to increase women's participation in economic development through structural adjustment, development of small and medium enterprises, development of services, handicrafts, animal husbandry in rural areas.

(see more details in Part I: job creating)

7) Decision-making: Vietnamese Government has focused on increasing the women's role and status in leadership and decision making positions with the following priorities:

- Streamlining female cadres at all levels;
- Strengthen women cadres' competencies at all levels.

The objective by the year 2000 is to increase the capacity, promote equal rights of women in leadership and management to meet the requirements of national economic modernization, contributing to enhancing women's role and positions in the society, by the contingent of qualified women cadres.

In order to fulfill the task mentioned above, the Governmental Personnel - Organization Department has collaborated with the concerned agencies to provide guidelines for implementation.

The authorities at all levels, at ministries and localities have implemented the promotion of women cadres. Of women in political: 01 Vice President of the State, 01 Vice Chairman of the National Assembly and 5 Women Ministers or equivalent.

In the Ministry of Finance, there are 2 women Vice Ministers (accounting for 28.6% in the total ministerial leaders), 9/47 directors and deputy directors (accounting for 19.1%).

As mentioned above, female representation in the National Assembly has increased by 26.22% thanks to great efforts of the NCFAW and other concerned institutions. The NCFAW has been successful in the fight for the people's council election at three levels which was held in November, 1999.

However, the proportion of female representation in public management is still low, inappropriate to women's labour force and capacity.

3) Institutional mechanism for the advancement of women: Mentioned in Part III, item

9) Human rights of women: The main objective is to protect and enhance the rights and interests of women and girls.

Protect women's rights, interests and dignity.

Create condition for women to participate in social activities.

Water supply: according to the report by the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development, in 1998 the Ministry concentrated to provide drinking water for 1.2 million people (2% of the rural population with 1% investment from the Government and 1% from the people); communication, advocacy and training have been promoted; the development of environment sanitation model... The total budget in 1998 for such activities was 74,400 million Dong. As a result, 7,600 water supplying places in 116 target districts in 61 provinces, cities including 520 water supplying places for schools have been established.

a) Obstacles:

- The first obstacle in implementing the Beijing Platform for Action is the awareness. The women attitude, hinder the implementation of the Platform
- Socio-economic difficulties: Vietnam is now in the transition from central planned economy to the market oriented under the socialist direction. We lack socio-economic conditions and are influenced by the negative impact of the economic crisis and natural disaster to achieve the targets worked out by the Platform.
- The Platform has set out very great, covered and general objectives of which some targets are rather higher than the implementation capacity within 5 years (1995-2000)

b) Lesson learnt:

The determination and commitment of the Government and high officials is a key factor in the success of the implementation of the Platform for Action. The Government should ensure that the Platform for Action is fully integrated into the national development plan and that the necessary resources are allocated to its implementation. The Government should also ensure that the Platform for Action is widely disseminated and that the public is fully aware of its objectives and targets. The Government should also ensure that the Platform for Action is implemented in a coordinated and integrated manner, involving all relevant sectors and stakeholders. The Government should also ensure that the Platform for Action is implemented in a sustainable manner, taking into account the long-term needs of the country and the people.

Objective 10:

Objective 11: Protect and cherish and facilitate their development in all fields.

In comparison with the national strategy, in this plan, we added the objective 11 on girl child and the objective 6 on the family's role to meet the Vietnam contexts (See the Part II).

To implement the National Plan of Action, the Government has assigned the Ministry of Planning to work out and arrange the plan, the Ministry of Finance to balance the budget, the NCFAW to monitor the implementation and branches' authorities at all levels to implement the POA.

- Each ministry and branch, province developed its own plan of action and establish the machinery for the advancement of women.

- Annually, the national review conference, drawing experience and making the follow-up plan is held every year.

- The National plan of action is disseminated widely and training courses on gender in policy making are organized.
